Wangye Worshipping Ceremony

All the residents who work outside of town will return home to join the "Wangye Worshipping Ceremony" a seven-day triennial religious and cultural event held in the years of bull, dragon, goat and dog.

Men help carry the palanquin, and women are responsible for preparing snacks and lunch. Visitors and folks in the procession are treated with free snacks and drinks, which is a century-old tradition called "Eat in the county you travel, and eat at the house you pass by."

Liuqiu Ocean Herdsman Industry Activities

Since Liuqiu is the only tourist attraction not affected by winter monsoon in Taiwan, "Ocean Herdsman Industry Activities" are held on the island for fifteen days, offering tourists a variety of fun for free. You are welcomed to enjoy Captain's Cuisine, seafood DIY, street performances, bamboo/tube raft fishing race, canoe racing, bike eco-tour, wood carving competition, and Herdsmen Night. We have the best people, smiles, isles, attractions, and local delicacies. Welcome to Liuqiu!

Local Delicacies

Located at the intersection of two Kuroshio currents in the west side of Pacific Ocean, Liuqiu is a well-known fishing ground where sailfish, tuna, whitefish, dolphin fish, and flying fish are often caught. While having delicious seafood and seaweed, don't forget to take a bite of dried fish, dried shredded squid, sailfish floss, and grilled squid! Other local delicacies include:

Liuqiu Sausages

Liuqiu Sausage is a very delicate meat product as all the cartilage and tendon in the pork is removed. It is often used as sacrificial offering for gods. Liuqiu Sausage is well-known for its length and its fine texture. Its length symbolizes longevity in Chinese

Fauna

Abundant in coral resources, Xiao Liuqiu has more than 200 stony corals (Scleractinia). Purple crabs (Gecarcoideaalalandii) are all over the Wild Boar Trench in the summer night after rain. Rock-boring urchin (Echinometramathaei) and millipede brittle star (Ophiocomascolopendrina) are the most advantageous "spiny-skinned" animals (Echinoderms) which take shelter in rock crevices in intertidal zone. Green sea turtles are also plenty at Xiao Liuqiu. To observe the turtles, simply go to the scenic pavilion at the Beauty Cave!
