Snorkled bay and only saw 2 turtles - one in southerly-west pocket (student lost it) and large 75cm turtle (caught) by life guard stand.

More found in bay later - mainly as afternoon progressed. Watson found turtle right under breaking waves (surfers) to right of channel entrance. At depth (need) (but not on the bottom) of ~15(?) Watson said they were "hovering" near the bottom.

AT THE BEACH

Coconut Island Park - This quaint little island connected by footbridge to parking behind the Hilo Hawaiian is a favorite spot of the locals for fishing, picnicking and swimming. Once known as Mokuola "healing island" its abundance of coconut palms gave rise to its present name. A large grassy area, quiet surf and shallow pools with sandy bottoms make this an ideal place to bring the keiki's "kids". •Bayview Drive to right turn past the Hilo Hawaiian Hotel. Park in the lot and stroll across the bridge. Map 5,B,10

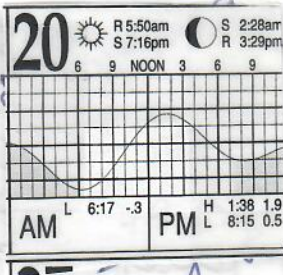

Hilo Bayfront Park - This grey sand beach is not a popular swimming beach because the water is cool and very murky, but fishing is a favorite pastime here. This park is also home to canoe clubs, hosts canoe races throughout the year and serves as a gathering place for various community activities. Decades of development and the tsunami of 1946 have significantly reduced the size and recreation potential of this beach but it remains a popular local park. •North 7 miles to Bay. Map 5,B,9

Kolekole Beach Park - The uniqueness of a fresh water river meeting the surge of ocean waves exists in several spots around the island, and Kolekole is one of the nicest. Its cool clear water arrives here soon after cascading down Akaka Falls 4 miles upstream. The Park lies 100' below the Hawaiian Consolidated Railway trestle (now a highway bridge), which provides shade for river swimming, fishing and a large picnic facility, all of which adds up to a fun day. •North 12.0 miles to left at sign, 0.6 miles to park. An excellent resighting and we are very appreciative to hear about it. This turtles was reared in captivity from birth (hatching) at Sea Life Park. The Mauna Lani Resort in South Kohala raised the turtle for just prior to release on July 4, 02 (their annual traditional Turtle Independence Day). The turtle was 39.5 lbs when let go. Thanks very much for the report, if you see the turtle again (or have seen it since July 12th of last year) please also let us know. With Aloha, George Balazs
