Li-Hwa DU - gov. woman assistant of head of fishery branch. She has been to Hawaii before; served Honey-Vinegar soil drink - gave us bottles of cigarettes
as gifts - "Queen Bee".

She was very interested in turtle research - having logs on satellite tracking maps.
Met for ~ 45 min.

Proceeded to airport area - thru graveyard
along road - many with crosses - Chen says these were aboriginal type people - many in this area. Video tapes. Except for crosses, the tombs look the same.

Proceeded to wet fishing building - local association headquarters - met at table with HUONG DONG PIN - pictures identify trap net design similar to what was seen in Muroto. Noted small MAZU temple (altar) nearby. At end of interview (see notes on card p. 36) and also p. 31.
Need to send him turtle roach toys (loggers).

Left meeting and walked beach - pictures of
2 nets each collected several rocks with him
(black or white) - one looks like a Moa (with imagination). Drove a short distance to beach look out night sky at
net. Stated that fish are pulled every day - morning and afternoon.

8/9/04 ^{new} Monday Take fish to larger boats, that are then landed and fish sold at favorite place for certain clientele.

From here we went to lunch at specialty mola restaurant - many courses all made with mola (Shark-tailed mola - smaller than large ones). Owner is aiming at 101 dishes from mola. What we ate included soup, sashimi, deep fried, salad, rice, cool drink, ice cream. All 'had mola.' See literature on p.

Proceeded in car to the south to view nets (2 seen) in vicinity of Feng Bin (or just before that location). Pictures from lookout (near small temple) - very large temple across the street - in video. Small one way not seen. Money burner outside by observation lookout.

Drove back to HUALIEN - direct to airport - departed on ~ 4 pm flight to Taipei City Airport. I took taxi to Teachers Hotel. Later in evening MTR to Central Station - then MTR to LONGSHAN station. Temple + walked night market street, back to hotel MTR ~ 1030 am. Watched movie on Johnson Vietnam War - MACHINERY SOLE. 8-10-04 Tuesday

美洲人稱牠為：太陽魚。
 歐洲人稱牠為：月魚。
 日本人稱牠為：MANBO。
 在台灣我們以往稱牠為：
 干貝魚、翻車魚.....

●2003年·
 人們發現了牠的美味稀有，
 舉辦了全國民眾命名票選，
 從此牠叫做：曼波魚。
 那一年舉辦的全國第一屆
 曼波魚食神料理大賽，
 民眾票選第一名即是：
三國一餐廐。

●由於曼波魚活動空間深度
 自海洋表層至600公尺深處，
 平時捕獲非常不容易，
 在台灣多只產於花蓮海域。
 近年因被美食老饕者發現
 其肉質鮮嫩多汁且富營養，
 為海鮮料理之頂級食材。
 ●在經過三國一餐飲事業

Moonless

From Golden Sands I walked alone toward Temple Beach. Rock outcrop makes in dangerous to go over. Sea Fog heavy - dense moisture in air and visibility. Walked back the same way you look north scooters to Temple Beach.

Tracks new up and down and back - this evening. Drove to Long Beach - old Central Guard Harbor end - almost couldn't find it due to new "Highway of the Gods" road (s) put in. While driving I thought of the expression "The Gods Have Red Eyes."

Many red lights in upper stories of homes with no other lights on. Drove to temple/abandoned hatchery and found Cheng and YA-RU. Talked with them for a while then we walked from "hatchery" / sewer convert outfall toward Long Beach's north end. No growls seen. Also no bright lights or motors of squid boats seen or heard on this trip (3 nights on the beach). Walked back to scooters on concrete "highway".

Noted far more cultivation of peanuts happening than I recall seeing on past trips.

Noted 8/13 Friday pm (ca. 15 cows all by east side) to the south (across bay of parking Hotel).

Strong quake closes Taipei subway system

TAIPEI >> A strong earthquake shook Taiwan today, forcing the Taipei subway system to shut down during the lunchtime rush. No serious damage or injuries were immediately reported.

The earthquake's epicenter was in the Pacific Ocean, about 70 miles from the Taiwanese port city of Su'ao, the Central Weather Bureau said. It put the magnitude at 7, while the Golden, Colo.-based U.S. Geological Survey said the earthquake had a strength of 6.7.

The quake shut down Taipei's subway system for about an hour, stranding thousands of passengers during lunchtime.

Taipei is set to become worlds' first wireless city

The technology allows sending e-mails even from park benches

Wall Street Journal

2 TAIPEI >> One evening last July, in the Taiwanese capital of Taipei, Web site consultant Rong Chen was on a subway train when a client called needing urgent repairs to its network. Far from his home office, the 27-year-old hopped off the train at the next stop and began searching for a place to get online with his laptop computer. Then, he remembered a recent city-government announcement. Within minutes, from a table in a nearby bus station, his computer was logged on to the Internet wirelessly. The customer's problem was fixed an hour later. Chen is an early user of what is expected to soon become the world's first citywide wireless-computer network in a major metropolis. The network, initiated by the Taipei city government and built by a private company, already includes more than 3,300 wireless "access points" that cover half the city's 106 square miles. The devices use the wireless Internet technology known as

1-29-06 HSB AS
Wi-Fi to let Taipei's 2.6 million residents surf the Internet or send e-mails from the privacy of their living rooms or the public comfort of their favorite park benches. Although the project has encountered some glitches and delays, city officials say that when it is completed around midyear, it will cover more than 90 percent of Taipei. Taiwan's efforts have put it ahead of big cities in the United States, where dozens of local governments have announced plans to build citywide wireless networks to provide the public with low-cost Internet access. The trend is prompting Internet companies like Google Inc.

and EarthLink Inc. to enter the fray, offering Internet services in direct competition with the high-speed access provided by existing telecom and cable carriers as well as wireless broadband services offered by companies like Sprint Nextel Corp. and Cingular Wireless. Taipei began planning its network in 2003. Mayor Ma Ying-jeou made the Wi-Fi effort a centerpiece of his "Cybercity" campaign to give Taipei an edge over other Asian cities. "This will increase the cutting-edge competitiveness of this city and make the life of our citizens even more convenient," the mayor says.

(二) Lantern Riddle Party:

Lantern Riddles, also called Lantern Tigers, are riddles either stuck on the surface of lanterns or inside of them. These riddles are usually fun to guess, but hard to solve because there are various topics involved. This activity is so entertaining and instructive that it always attracts crowds to the party.
