Call from KEITH KEAU concerning turtle caught in "CARGO NET". Tied in front flipper. People that found it (soybeans from shore) tried letting it go, but it washed back up on the beach.

#1449 HAWAIIAN AIR TO KEWALO

♀ Olive Ridley - SL - 60.7 cm

SL v-notch - 59.9 cm

Left front flipper - cut at base from entanglement; plus distal notches; all mostly healing, and none significantly deep. Excessively buoyant to one side. Unable to dive. Scutes seem thin and able to "peel" after getting wet. Found at Panukalo, Maui 12/29 - has been eating very good since at least 12/25. Squib. Still buoyant.

CL = 22" (56cm)

Dead turtle washed up in front of their house. Report to me through HEMB.

Taken to Pailua Dump. Photos in vegetation debris (2-3 also with cracked skylight filter); ~60 barns on carapace, many still alive. Massive TMR on neck and all four flipper "bases". but none on eyes; Very foul smelling, but not bloated or skin peeling.

Two curved slashes deep in left side of carapace + blue paint on broken barn. (= Boat collision, probably when already dead).

1-23-87 On 1-22-87, Mr. Tom Thompson stopped in to see Peter Milne, & had interesting info on turtles. Over the past 6 years or so, Mr. Thompson has been kayaking & diving along Oahu's southwest shore. He has noted "large" ("garbage can size") turtles in the vicinity of Barber's Point Deep Draft Harbor, both towards West Beach & towards Ewa. On a recent trip (kayak), he noted 15 turtles (coming & going - may be some duplication).
