9/3 are taken and saved (large-as by Thurs. as a "zulu shield". Bodies buried on the beach in front of fishing camp. Dug ^{deeply} where Terawoto said. Two rocks used to mark the site, but many more were in the area. Hot, dry sand. Hard-packed mud '23' down.

No signs of bones or smelly soil. Two shallow creeps seen where digging likely occurred very recently. Terawoto felt someone had taken the shell. Likely dehydrated under these conditions. Stated that smaller turtle, one with tags, had golf-ball sized eggs. He thinks turtles nested (nest) along here - claims to have eaten eggs when he was young.

Report is that there were 2 tags on the turtle, but one fell off while being cleaned (?) in the ocean.
