

Kiholo-10/24/01

San Diego Bay-11/14/01

San Diego Bay-11/14/01

Kiholo-10/24/01

Jocelyn Cheng

Kiholo Bay
 Fisheries Management Area

No Gill Nets
 Unlawful to possess gill nets within the Fisheries Management Area

HAWAIIAN SEA TURTLES

Green turtles are native to Hawai'i and can be found in shallow coastal waters of our islands. The turtles commonly come into shallow waters to feed on the algae (limu) growing on the bottom. During the past few years, green turtles have begun to crawl out on the sand and rocks to "bask," primarily during daylight hours. This basking is a natural behavior unique to Hawaiian green turtles.

Green turtles are protected by both state and federal laws as a threatened species. As such, it is illegal to disturb or touch them in any way, and fines can be imposed for doing so. If you see green turtles basking, please do not bother them. They will crawl back into the water when they are ready. Please enjoy the beauty of these wonderful creatures, both above and below water.

Mālama na honu

WARNING

ANY PERSON OR PERSONS WHO TAKES ANY AQUATIC LIFE IN THE PRIVATE FISHPOND RIGHT OF KIHULO BAY SHALL BE PUNISHED BY FINE OR 30 DAYS IN JAIL OR BOTH

10 24 '01

 HAWAIIAN SEA TURTLES

Green turtles are native to Hawai'i and can be found in shallow coastal waters of our islands. The turtles commonly come into shallow waters to feed on the algae (limu) growing on the bottom. During the past few years, green turtles have begun to crawl out on the sand and rocks to "bask," primarily during daylight hours. This basking is a natural behavior unique to Hawaiian green turtles.

Green turtles are protected by both state and federal laws as a threatened species. As such, it is illegal to disturb or touch them in any way, and fines can be imposed for doing so. If you see green turtles basking, please do not bother them. They will crawl back into the water when they are ready. Please enjoy the beauty of these wonderful creatures, both above and below water.

Mālama na honu

This sign was placed as a public service by students of Uwehāi Preparatory Academy, funded by SHIP Hawaii Foundation.

10 24 '01

Sea Turtles sleep out of the water
along the shoreline here at Kiholo.

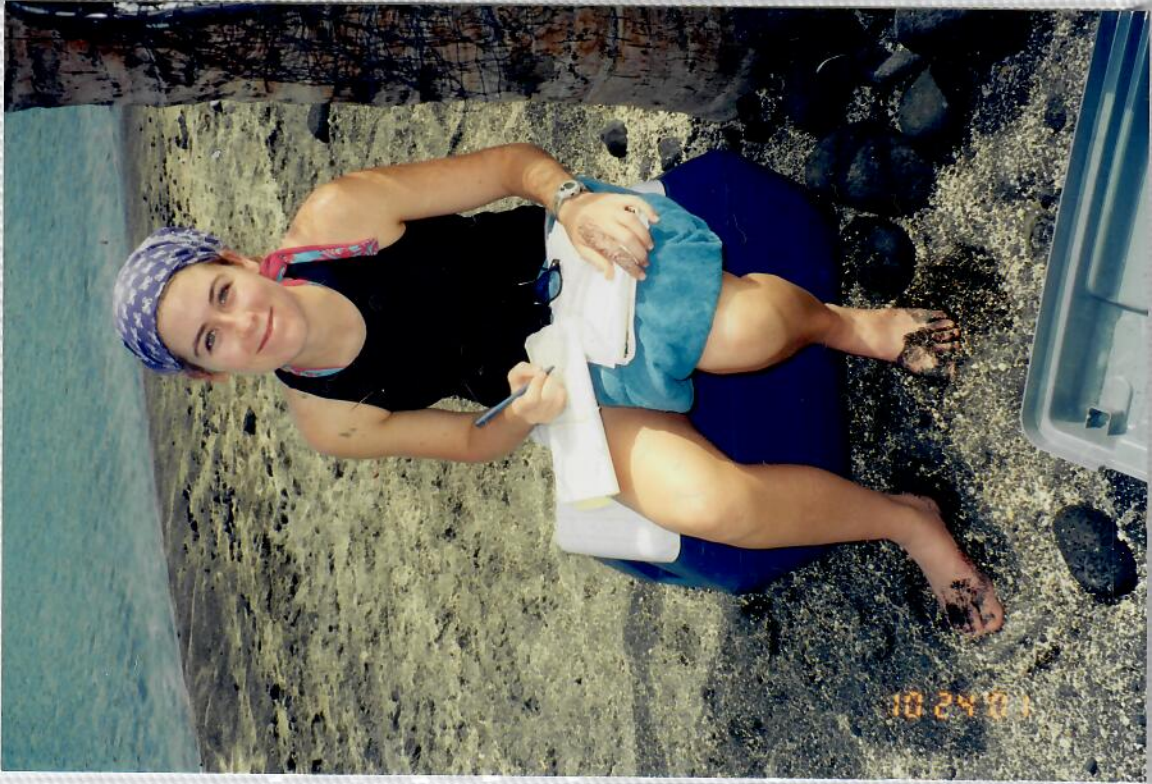

BASKING GREEN TURTLES

It is illegal to disturb them.
Please keep at least 20 feet away.

10 24 '01

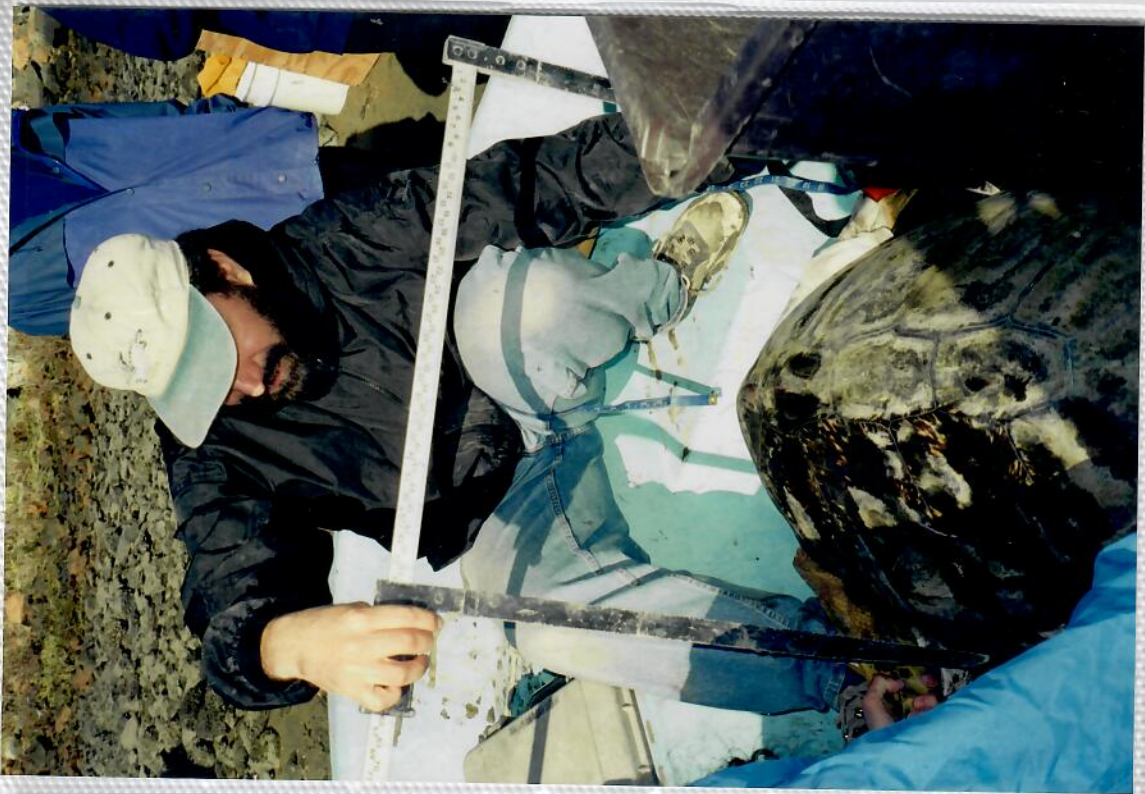

Sea Turtles sleep out of the water
along the shoreline here at Kiholo.

BASKING GREEN TURTLES

It is illegal to disturb them.
Please keep at least 20 feet away.

10 24 01

85524513631113
PRINTED IN HAWAII