I have always thought that all men should be free; but if any should be slaves, it should be first those who desire it for themselves, and secondly those who desire it for others. Whenever I hear anyone arguing for slavery, I feel a strong impulse to see it tried on him personally.

Biting errors

Dear editor,

I am writing to correct two errors that appeared in the Hawaii Tribune-Herald article on shark attacks entitled, "Six in 10 Cases," that was recently sent to me.

In this article, it is stated that a paper which I recently published along with Alan K.H. Kam ("A Review of Shark Attacks in the Hawaiian Islands") failed to list a 1926 attack involving a Private W.J. Goins. It is also stated that the culprit shark "was captured off Hapuna" on the Big Island.

The fact is that the attack on Private Goins was indeed documented and detailed in our paper as Case No. 12 of the 52 cases.

Private Goins had been swimming with friends in water 12-foot deep off Haleiwa on Oahu when he called out and then disappeared. A Great White Shark containing his remains was caught two weeks later off Kahuku, Oahu.

The case did not involve any aspect of the Big Island, other than being reported in the June 5th, 1926 issue of the Hilo Tribune Herald.

I appreciate having the opportunity to clarify this matter. I would be grateful to receive first-hand information from your readers on shark attacks that have occurred on the Big Island.
