A magnificent collection dedicated to presenting the work of the greatest artists of all time. Each volume contains 80 full-color plates, a biography of the artist, and a critical appraisal of his work written by a leading expert. A true encyclopedia of art in which each volume stands alone as an authoritative treatise.

GAUGUIN

The critical writings on Gauguin have been enriched during the last few years with the discovery of unpublished documents relating to the artist's life and by new contributions to the study of his works and their origins. In this new monograph, which draws heavily on this new material, the actual figure of Gauguin is restored, stripped of all the romantic coloring which has only served to distort the historic truth about the man. It deals specifically with Gauguin's relationships with young contemporary artists, from the Synthetists to the Nabis; his theoretical statements taken from letters and other writings; and the works themselves, which best show him to be the precursor of so much of the art of our century, from the Fauves to the Expressionists.
